Ps.103,22: "Praise the LORD, all his works everywhere in his dominion. Praise the LORD, my soul."

Lk.13,29: "People will come from east and west and north and south, and will take their places at the feast in the kingdom of God."

'See how finite man can awaken unbounded praise! Man is but little, yet, placing his hands upon the keys of the great organ of the universe, he wakes it to thunders of adoration! Redeemed man is the voice of nature, the priest in the temple of creation, the precentor in the worship of the universe. O that all the Lord's works on earth were delivered from the vanity to which they were made subject, and brought into the glorious liberty of the children of God.'
